

Wolkovich Lab

Research exemption request for critical research

April 16, 2020

Contents

1	Overview of work	1
2	Reducing field work to critical aspects	1
3	Addressing UBC's specific questions	1

1 Overview of work

2 Reducing field work to critical aspects

3 Addressing UBC's specific questions

Here we respond directly to UBC questions regarding social distancing, conduct the research, and follow current Government and University travel advisories and restrictions.

1. Are you able to travel to and from your research sites in compliance with current University and Government Travel Restrictions?

2. How does the size of your team allow for social distancing?

3. How do modes of travel at your research site allow for social distancing?

4. How do living and working conditions at the site allow for social distancing and/or for self-isolation should it become necessary?

5. What are the plans in place should a member of the research team develop COVID-19 symptoms?

6. If your research will bring you into contact with local communities, how will you ensure required and effective social distancing protocols?