Hi Jo,

Term started here gray and early (yesterday) and it's been pouring all day today, feels like post-holidays

Sounds good on the grant, thank you again. I'll follow up soon, once I sort it out a little more and connect with Pat.

Regarding the weather data, at the pace I am going in processing data, I was thinking I could pick it up via flash drive or such when I am back out in the area in the spring. How does that sound? I can read CSV or TXT or Excel or such file format, I am not sure what format ADCON gives

All the best,
Lizzie

Hello, that is OK
Good Holidays, now back into a grinder 😊
Let me know about the weather data??

Dear Jo,

Apologies for my slow reply! It always takes me a while to sift through data files and the end of last term was a bit overbooked with travel.
We've started up term here quickly (yesterday) so I am trying to catch up after a nice break over the holidays.

First off, THANK YOU! These are incredible data (I wish others were so good in keeping track of these data, especially amazed it is since 2001). So far I think I can make sense of most of the data files (though I may need some help discerning some of the block IDs in the pre-harvest data, I think I can probably crack it once I have more time).

A couple phenology questions:

(a) Is budburst date recorded at the 'green tips' stage or some other

metric?—Right after woolly bud stage, Yes

(b) I assume flowering date is always 80%? It says so in some of the years, but not all so I wanted to check.— Yes

In other news, we made it past the first round of the BC FAIP grant (which — if funded — would allow me to process these data much quicker). I'll be in touch within the next week about the full application that is due at the end of the month.

I hope you had good holidays and send happy New Year wishes, Lizzie

Good Morning

I will be sending you a bunch off data files and sheets, some might be duplicates, I hope you can make a best out off them..... 😊, for the weather I still have to brainstorm to get it to you we have the ADCON wetharstations with a bunch of recording

Cheers
