Hi Pat,

Yes! That's what I have printed out (thanks for the ref though -- I did not have that).

Thanks for the files -- we're finally making some progress on the phenology work which is great (I am in France now where my colleague who does all the modelling had some good suggestions on ways to get some models that might be most useful to the growers now going soon). And Geoff has already used your shape files to pull the rasters we need to pull climate projections. Hopefully when the next postdoc starts we'll also make some real progress on the hardiness.

Hope all is well.

All the best,
Lizzie

Hi Lizzie,

I think the map I gave you showed the Okanagan growing regions we defined MANY years ago – see <https://journals.lib.unb.ca/index.php/GC/article/view/2718/3168> – and still use today. My technician, Brad Estergaard, has created shape files for these – we'll zip and send them to you. We are currently defining official subappellations (see <http://www.bcvqa.ca/wine-regions-of-bc/>) but these lie within growing regions and the work is in progress.

Dear Pat and Carl,

I hope this note finds all well with you. I heard the harvest has been slow so I hope it's going okay.

I am writing with a request I am hoping you can help with. Geoff

(cc-ed) just started as a postdoc on the BC FAIP project in my lab and is working with an undergrad to start visualizing the climate projections we plan to use. To get started we need a shape file for the Okanagan, Similkameen (and anywhere else in the vicinity that is relevant). I still have nice maps you gave me last year and was wondering if you might have a digital version of them we could use to make a shape file and/or a shape file already?

I'll be in the area in 2-3 December (hopefully before also, still sorting that) so maybe see you then if you are around and have time?

All the best,

Lizzie
